DUFF SETS AMOUNT OF PAY INCREASES

A 4.8 percent pay increase for policemen and firefighters, and a four percent hike for other municipal employees, has been announced by Town Manager Thomas E. Duff.

He said the increases will cost $28,000 this year.

It was also reported that the advisory personnel board and the Finance Committee have agreed to the increases. Mr. Duff indicated that the Town Employees Association Salary Committee also looks favorably on the raises.

Gym Team Show Here

Andover's outstanding gym team will present its home exhibition at the high school the evening of Feb. 23.

This year the first show by the Exhibition Team was at Wilmington.

For the past two years, increased attention has been focussed upon gymnastics in the physical education program, largely through the efforts of Donald D. Dunn, Joseph Dorsey and Miss Ann Strout, all members of that department. Gymnastic skills are taught to all pupils in the regularly scheduled classes. Now, increased emphasis and time are directed toward after-school instruction and practice. Boys and girls interested in this additional training become members of the Gymnastic Exhibition Team that performs in schools and YMCA's throughout this area. The exhibition itself requires about two hours. It consists of gymnastic floor exercises, comedy acts, and heavy apparatus work on the parallel bars, the high bar, the

Dump Was Discussed

Town Manager Thomas E. Duff explained a statement of a week ago, concerning the purchase of a $28,000 'dozer for the dump, at a meeting Monday night in town hall.

He told the Selectmen, Finance Committee and Dump Study Committee that he did not actually support the FinCom's negative opinion, while supporting the Study Committee's proposal.

Instead, he said he supports the FinCom in its efforts to keep the special articles within the means of the town to pay; but he also wants to have the heavy piece of equipment purchased.

At the session, a full-scale review of the proposal for a sanitary land fill method of operations at the dump, plus purchase of the equipment, was held.

Chairman Richard McKallagat briefly discussed the history of the study group, and pointed out that it was told to bring in its recommendation - not to present various alternatives. Therefor, he took

Members Of All-State Chorus

Mrs. Miriam McArdle, director of Music Education in the Andover schools, has announced that five members of the Andover High A Cappella Choir and Choral Society have won membership in the All-State Chorus, the highest choral honor awarded in the state.

The following Andover High students were winners: Mary Ellen Essiambre '64, Bruce Hinckley '63, Anne Leacock '64, Janet Workman, '62 and Gwendolyn Young '64.

Membership in the All-State Chorus is a coveted honor, achieved only through keen competition with the finest singers from all the Senior High schools of the entire state. In order to qualify for this competition, each student had to have previously won a place in one of the four district choruses of the state, each still rings, the side horse, and the trampoline. The show also includes tumbling, tiger leaping, pyramid building and a final display of living silver statues.

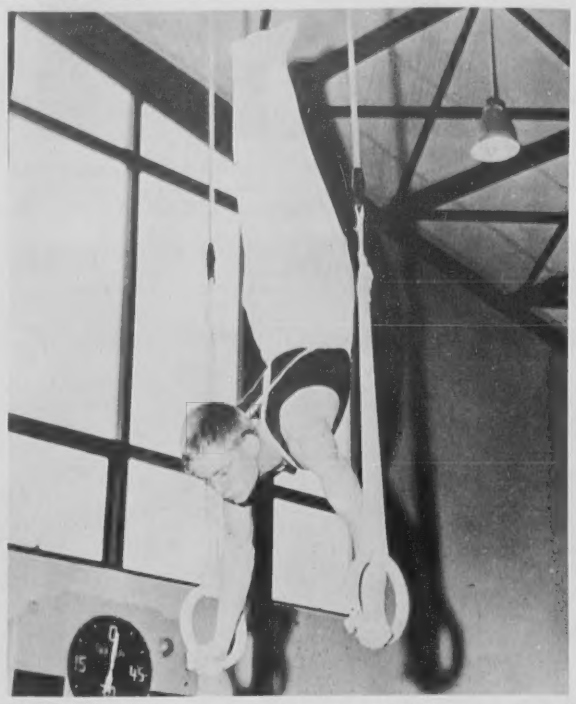
From the exhibition team, a smaller group is chosen to perform as the school's Interscholastic Competitive Gymnastic Team. This team of approximately 20 boys competes with schools of all sizes throughout Massachusetts. Last year Andover High's team placed second in the State Championships, Wilbraham, placing first.

This year, after three meets, Andover holds an unbeaten record, having won over Melrose and Springfield College Freshmen and having tied Wilbraham. Remaining meets will include Wilbraham again and Needham, Winchester, Framingham, and Wellesley.

Andover is striving to win at least 75 percent of their meets, which will make it eligible to compete in the Gymnastic Team State Championships. This year they will be held at Winchester March 24. Mr. Dorsey feels confident that his team can qualify for the state meet, even though handicapped by the recent injury of Robert Cargill, one of his leading gymnasts.

In addition to the Team State Championship Meet an Individual State Championship Meet is also held each year and this year Andover will play host to this event March 31. Elegibility is determined on the basis of team members placing first on the various apparatus in the regular meets. So far this year the following Andover High students have become eligible: Robert Cargill-Tumbling, Free Exercise, Horizontal Bar; Roger Hastings - Still Rings; Barry Thomson - Parallel Bars; Kent Warner - Long Horse; and Richard Morgan - Rope Climb.



ROBERT CARGILL works out on the still rings, part of the presentation of the local gymnastic team. A home show will be presented Feb. 23 at the High School, featuring many of the abilities of outstanding team members.

CAPITOL COMMENT

By YOUR CONGRESSMAN
BRAD MORSE

With the opening of the second session of the 87th Congress, the name of John W. McCormack was added to the roster of illustrious Americans elevated by their colleagues to the office of Speaker of the United States House of Representatives. Our Commonwealth has contributed more statesmen to the Speakership than any other state: Sedgwick, Varnum, Winthrop, Banks, Gillett, our beloved Joseph W. Martin Jr., and now the able Bostonian, John McCormack. The situation is unique in that we now have both an incumbent and a former Speaker from the same state serving together in the House.

Leadership of both parties bears especially heavy responsibility this year. Though firmly united on the goal of preserving a strong, free United States, battle lines are being drawn as to the most effective means. Three major issues shape up as potentially explosive: trade expansion, medical care for the aged, the United Nations bond issue.

In his State of the Union message, the President described the "great challenge" posed by the European Common Market. If the American economy is to flourish, we must meet this new and vigorous competition. But, at the same time, we cannot ignore the immediate impact on American workers and investors. The specific points of the President's proposal have not yet been presented to the Congress. Once his message on trade is received, we will be better able to decide the best method of improving our position in the world trading community. The answer will not be a simple one: it will require the best thinking and most responsible cooperation of management and labor, of economists and legislators to reach it.

The fate of medical care for the aged rests currently in the hands of the 25 members of the Ways and Means Committee - 15 Democrats and 10 Republicans. There is no assurance that the Democratic chairman of the committee will bring the legislation to the House floor. If the measure reaches the floor, debate will center on the wisdom of meeting the problem through Social Security - which would possibly exclude men and women not covered by Social Security during their working days - or through another system of financing.

The future of the U.N. will be at stake in the bond issue appropriation request. While we must not let ourselves be trapped into unwittingly aiding Khruschev's plan to destroy the U.N., honest doubts do exist as to the wisdom of underwriting, by appropriation of $100 million, debts incurred through defaulting on the part of other member nations.

As these and other vital issues - education, foreign aid, the defense budget, postal rates - come before us, I shall deal with them in depth in later columns. Meanwhile, I can think of nothing more helpful to me than your personal letters letting me know of your thoughts on the perplexing problems confronting our nation.

What Our Readers Say—

To the Editor of the Townsman:

"In the interest of a more orderly town meeting, may I suggest that the moderator be given control - direct or indirect - over the microphones in the auditorium.

"No person should be allowed to address the meeting without being recognized by the moderator. But with live microphones throughout the auditorium, any person may disrupt the proceedings.

"The loudspeakers are so loud that even a polite 'Mr. Moderator!' startles everyone when it suddenly interrupts a speaker or the moderator himself when he is engaged in procedural matters.

"This suggestion is in no way meant to limit expression of opinion. The moderator has had the power to order microphones shut off but has never used it. Many people do not sit near microphones, but the moderator has bent over backward to recognize everybody who wanted to be heard. He can be trusted to use his power over switching on microphones with fairness.

"A proposal was made that there be more microphones in the auditorium; my suggestion should not affect consideration of that proposal. All microphones in the auditorium should be dead until the moderator has recognized a speaker."

Heart Dance Was Enjoyable Affair

The annual Heart Dance, sponsored by Beta Sigma Phi Sorority for the benefit of the Greater Lawrence Heart Fund, was held recently at the Andover Country Club.

In spite of inclement weather, the dance was quite well attended and a social success. In an atmosphere of hearts and cupids, everyone present enjoyed dancing to the music of a well-known orchestra.

One of the highlights of the evening was the drawing of numbers for the door prizes, number 6 was drawn for the first prize of a weekend for two at a popular ski resort; numbers 10 and 21 were drawn for $50 Savings Bonds and number 26 received enough wool suiting for a ladies ensemble.

A man's shortcomings appear short because it is difficult for him to get them in his field of vision.

RECREATIONAL AREAS – This is the planned use of land around the High School for recreational purposes. School Committeeman Robert McIntyre, who has been spearheading the project, had this plan prepared in conjunction with the Committee's article in the warrant asking for $22,000 for grading and drainage, in addition to the $28,000 held over from last year. The architectural firm working on the new elementary school prepared the plans. The entire project will cost an estimated $200,000 over a period of several years. Further details of the plan will be presented in the Townsman prior to town meeting.

Students Using Channel Two

"Focus" which is dealing with world ideologies this year, is part of the Channel Two Twenty One Inch Class Room series.

Since the only two viable ideologies existing in the world today are democracy and communism, it is only logical that any course in world ideologies would be given over to a treatment of these two. The program which has, as its lecturer, Dr. John Gibson, is concerned not only with the negative aspects of communism but also the positive side of the western world's democratic institutions.

With this sort of program offered through the medium of television, it seemed like an excellent opportunity for the social studies department of the Junior High School to allow some of the students to take advantage of it. The students meet once a week during the half hour enrichment period. One week they view the television program and the next week they discuss what they have seen, with Albert Mitchell, social studies teacher.

The main disadvantage has been that Andover does not participate in the broader program offered by the Twenty One Inch Class Room, which includes supplementary written materials. However, the possibility of participating in the broader program is presently being evaluated.

If Andover elects to enter this program in the future, the added materials would offer a great stimulus to the more advanced student. In several cases already there is an indication that this series has energized the imagination of the more gifted students. The possible future development of such a program for the more gifted student seems very encouraging should Andover participate in Twenty One Classroom.

"I fell for this cut-rate auto insurance from a direct-writing insurance company with no independent local agent. When I had a collision loss, I found their adjuster trying to cut every corner on repairs to save the company money. Does anyone really think he saves money when he by-passes his independent local insurance agent?"

Breath Of Spring At DAR Meeting

A breath of spring was brought to the members of Priscilla Abbot Chapter, D.A.R. at the February meeting held at the home of Mrs. Walter Damon on Hidden rd., when the state historian, Mrs. Fred Y. Spurr of Melrose, gave a talk and showed colored pictures of garden flowers of early America.

The meeting was held in the evening, preceded by a covered dish supper, which was enjoyed by over 20 members and guests. The business meeting was opened by the regent, Mrs. Edwin Otto, and devotions and patriotic exercises followed. The president-general's message was read by Mrs. John Kenyon. The secretary's report was read by Mrs. Edward Thompson for Mrs. Harry Donovan, who was unable to be present and Mrs. William Trow gave the treasurer's report.

Mrs. Leo V. O'Connor read a paper about the Common Market in Europe and the controversy going on now in the Federal government about it here. Mrs. Roland Weeks read a piece from a local paper about February being American History month, and also said she had brought it to the attention of the Town Manager, Mr. Duff.

Mrs. Edwin Lewis, Flag chairman, reported that a Flag which has been flown over the Capitol in Washington, will be presented to a Girl Scout Troop in March. It was voted to purchase copies of the Flag Code to be presented to Boy and Girl Scouts and Cubs, at a future meeting. Mrs. Thompson said that the Good Citizen girl, Miss Thelma Watson and her mother, will be guests of the Chapter at its next meeting March 13.

Mrs. Otto, as regent of the Chapter, will be the delegate to the Continental Congress in Washington in April, and Mrs. Thompson as vice regent, and Mrs. Earl Thornton were named as alternates.

Mrs. Otto then closed the business meeting and turned it over to the speaker, Mrs. Spurr, who is an enthusiast in gardening. She said that her love of gardens was also combined with historical research for the D.A.R., as the early settlers brought bits of the homelands from which they came in the form of seedlings and cuttings, and planted them in the new land to remind them of home. Mrs. Spurr said there were four different types of civilization which came to these shores, the Spanish and French to the warm and fertile lands of Florida, the swashbuckling cavaliers to Virginia, the Dutch to the Hudson's Bay country further north and the Pilgrims and Puritans to New England.

While the southern groups loved beautiful flower gardens and the Dutch combined symmetry with beauty in their cultivated lands, the stern Puritans thought of beauty in gardens as an invention of the devil, but had to have their gardens for food and herbs, the latter being a source of medicine as well as for seasoning foods. Beauty in flowers came later when the stern reasoning of the early fathers finally gave way to a more sensible form of life. Mrs. Spurr showed some beautiful colored slides of the common garden flowers which are still favorites; lilacs, digitalis or foxglove, bleeding heart, several kinds of lilies, roses, iris, tulips, pansies, marigolds, stock, and the herb fraxinella or dittany, besides others which she has in her home garden plot.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. George Glennie on Wolcott ave. and there will be a talk by the state chairman of the American Indians Committee, Mrs. Hamilton Sweet.

Little Stories about Great hymns

Jesus Calls Us, O'er the Tumult

Jesus calls us, o'er the tumult
Of our life's wild, restless sea;
Day by day His sweet voice soundeth,
Saying, "Christian, follow me!"

Cecil Alexander, along with her duties as wife, mother, and parish worker among the poor, wrote 400 hymns. In 1848, at the age of 25, she wrote this challenging hymn. It is based upon Christ's calling Peter and Andrew to forsake their lesser duty as fishermen on the Sea of Galilee, and to perform their great fulfillment as His disciples. In this hymn she appeals to all to do likewise.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

For Motherhood

Industrial development has one thing in common with motherhood . . . candidates can safely be for it.

But there's a lot more to industrial development than being for it during election campaigns.

A few ideas:

Should the town seek industry, or should we wait for it to fall into our laps?

What, by definition, is a "select" industry? One we select, as a community? One that selects us, regardless of whether we want it or not?

For that matter, how does a town like Andover manage to compete with communities everywhere which are vigorously soliciting industrial growth? Do we want industry bad enough to go looking for it?

And when it comes, do we look down our noses and tell its representatives that we're looking for something more professional, something cleaner, perhaps?

In our minds, these are some of the specifics that get left out of discussions on industrial development. We've been hearing platitudes for some years now. "We've got an ideal industrial location. They'll come, in due time" And on, and on.

Now we've got to fish or catch bait. Just what is this town aming for; just how much does it want industry? Just how much do the candidates for Selectmen want industry?

The League of Women Voters survey indicated that a majority of the residents approve of industrial growth. But this is in rather general terms, and the individuals who feel that way can surely change their minds if the site happens to be near their home, or if they don't like the particular type of industry.

In fact, we continue to hear claims that Andover's reputation in this direction is entirely negative; we hear that industrial developers frown when someone asks about Andover, because they, themselves, or some of their professional friends have gotten the cold shoulder here, or have heard of someone else who has been jilted by some town boards after being wooed by others.

We can't quite swallow the claims of favorable attitudes toward industrial development on the part of all candidates, until we find out specifically whether they want to have new industry here and will do something about it; or whether they believe Andover should follow its old course of wait, because it's sure to come.

The truest indication of a person's sincerity in this regard would be a statement that legitmiate approaches by industry will be met by friendly, helpful officials here; and a statement that any appointed town official who does not treat prospects in this manner will not have the opportunity to make the mistake a second time. You don't make friends of industries by heckling its emissaries.

Makes Sense

The Finance Committee should be congratulated for its position on Rogers Brook.

That Committee has decided to present a negative recommendation on the article asking for an additional $10,000 – so that the town will be authorized to spend up to $205,000 for one-third of the reconstruction job.

The FinCom's reasoning: The town won't get enough value for the money spent.

Underlying the tone of every discussion, however, seems to be the attitude that a partnership with the state Division of Waterways is not desirable, based on the published reports of that Division's administration.

We hope the town meeting will agree with the Finance Committee, and turn down this additional amount of money. Then the voters will be free to rescind previous action, and leave just enough money in the account to pay for any easement damages that may have occurred.

We Report The News

The "press" was dragged into the political campaign briefly at the first League of Women Voters candidates' night, when it was stated that this media had a responsibility in its reporting of school news.

In the context of the remarks, the comment was related to reporting more than the debates at School Committee meetings; that the school system itself in these changing times should be covered fully.

With that sentiment we agree.

We would point out, however, that the men who make the schools' policies – whether they be elected members of the Committee or administrators in the system – actually make the news. The newspapers just reports it.

We have no more right to report the good than the bad, the controversies than the unanimous decisions. Thus it is obvious that the school officials set the tone of the news by their own actions – by what they, themselves, do.

We can comment, and do so, on the decisions these men and women make; but reporting the news involves relating the facts as they are, not as any one would have them be in hindsight.

A newspaper tries its level best to present the news accurately, wherever the chips fall; its editorial opinions are confined to this column, where editorials should be found.

Thus if newspapers are expected to bear responsibility for presenting all of the news, they can not also be expected to present only the positive side. Sometimes those people making the news don't, themselves, follow this approach, and this is just as much news as anything else that occurs in town.

No books are stamped to become due on the holiday, but those wishing to return books may leave them in the book box or in the door slot. Recordings must be returned to the main desk to insure their safety.

Readings For TV

If you plan to follow through the television program of "Great Decisions 1962" which will continue on Thursday evenings at 8 o'clock over our educational television station, you will want to read along with the discussions, and follow up the programs with material which presents several points of view. The first of these was "Vietnam, Win, Lose or Draw", and in answer to some of the searching questions raised by the discussion, here are readings which you may pick up at the Memorial Hall Library: Laos, It's People, Its Culture, by Frank LeBar; The Nations of Southeast Asia, Current History Magazine article of February 1960; South Viet Nam, of Time Magazines, August 4, 1961; on order are the following books which should be ready for readers in the near future: Southeast Asia and American Policy, by John P. Armstrong; Southeast Asia Today and Tomorrow, Richard Butwell; Street Without Joy, Bernard B. Fall and A History of Southeast Asia, by D.G.E. Hall.

"Red China-Third Greatest Power?", as the second program in the series, questions the weaknesses of the Chinese economy, and the so-called "split" between Peking and Moscow. Good follow up material, also at the library, is Communist China and Asia, by A. Doak Barnett; Communist China: New World Power, in Current History magazine September 1961; Khrushchev and China, by Edward Crankshaw, Atlantic Monthly, May 1961; The United States and China, John King Fairbank; Should The United States Change its China Policy? Headline Series publication No. 129, and Communist China in the World Community, an International Conciliation pamphlet, No. 533.

This week's subject for the program is "Brazil: Which Way Half A Continent?" Readings available at the library include these: The Voice Of Latin America, by William Benton; Rebellion in the Backlands, by Euclides da Cunha; Focus on Latin America, Intercom, for February, 1961; A History of Latin America, Hubert Herring; Brazil: The Infinite Country, by William Schurz and The United States and Latin America, the American Assembly. The library has on order Lewis Hanke's South America, also.

The Great Decisions program is an annual project sponsored by Foreign Policy Association - World Affairs Center in cooperation with national, state and community organizations, educational institutions, press and broadcasting media, churches, libraries and public schools. It aims to present all relevant aspects of any issue, and encourages individual decision based on the principles of freedom, justice and democracy, but takes no position on any specific issue of United States foreign policy.

Whether those interested join groups, see and hear the television programs, or are reading about these great issues as interested individuals, the readings suggested here will add to an overall understanding of some of the major problems facing our world today.

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago – February, 1912

No articles of unusual interest will appear in this year's warrant. It is primarily concerned with requests for street lighting and water extensions. Once again, the fire department will ask for a motor truck.

Among the new voters registered Wednesday were Joseph E. Fallon and William Gordon.

The past week has been a good one from the plumbers' point of view. Frozen and bursting pipes have been frequent happenings during the very cold days.

Miss Sauer, instructor in physical training, will speak to the teachers of the high school Tuesday afternoon.

Charles Bowman took out papers for selectman and assessor; Colver J. Stone, cemetery commissioner; Charles G. Willard, Henry A. Bodwell, Bartlett H. Hayes, Ralph Coleman and Ira Buxton, School Committee.

William Stirling of Cuba st., who has been on a two-month visit to Scotland, sailed for home Feb. 13 on the steamer Ivernia.

Thomas Gorrie was elected chief of Clan McDonald last week.

Katherine L. Moynihan is president of the newly-organized auxiliary to the local division of the Ancient Order of Hibernians.

25 Years Ago – February, 1937

John A. Jenkins, a local dairyman and one of the town's prominent businessmen, was killed yesterday morning, when a big milk van crashed into his parked milk delivery truck on Main st., near Highland rd. Mr. Jenkins was standing on the running board of the small truck, sorting milk bottles, when the crash took place, and was hurled into the roadway. The driver of the truck has been charged by police with manslaughter.

The Finance Committee estimates a $30 tax rate, with total recommended expenditures of $592,812. A number of special articles dealing with improvements were not approved by the FinCom. The town's valuation now is $15,000,000.

The Red Cross now has collected $3,342 for the Mississippi valley flood relief program. This is double the town's quota. There also has been an ample supply of clothing donated to this cause.

Mrs. Feronica (Rice) Carpenter is now the town's oldest resident, at age 97. She is the widow of the Rev. C. C. Carpenter, who was associate editor of the Townsman during the first two years of its existence a half-century ago. Mr. Carpenter continued to write articles for the paper for many years, specially on historical matters.

The School Committee has again changed its policy regarding WPA use of the Shawsheen School for recreational purposes. The right to use the building has been approved until the March meeting, on a trial basis, following a meeting with the town's recreational leaders. The Committee voted to rescind the approval a few weeks ago, based on extensive damage caused to the building and grounds.

10 Years Ago – February, 1952

At the regular meeting of the Board of Trade last Tuesday night, members again took a stand as favoring the off-street parking, and insisted that this step is a necessity to continued prosperity of the business district.

A severe northeast blizzard, that started Sunday and wound up late Monday, damaged power lines, crippled transportation, and generally raised havoc. About three inches of snow fell Sunday morning, a brief respite followed, then by noon the heavy snow began. It lasted over 24 hours, and dropped a foot of snow that became considerably more when drifting took place.

Despite the time of year, the fire department answered 13 alarms for grass and brush fires last Wednesday and Thursday. Officials blamed high winds, which blew the hot contents of burning incinerators into open fields, for the rash of fires. Sunday's blizzard took care of the problem for some time to come, however.

AWARD WINNER – Mrs. Elizabeth M. Pillion of Andover, a chemist at the Quartermaster Research and Engineering Command, Natick, received a Research Directors' Award in research for 1961. An analytical chemist, Mrs. Pillion was recognized for developing a spectrophotometric correction technique for qualitatively identifying the ingredients in a dry-type phenolic disinfectant and other multi-component mixtures.

Apply Early For Summer Session

The Andover Summer Session, conducted by Phillips Academy, has announced plans for the coming summer.

Robert P. Hulburd, director of the session, announced that it will run from June 27 to Aug. 9.

Mr. Hulburd, in outlining the purpose of the summer session, indicated that this was designed as an opportunity for serious study for able and qualified secondary school students. The curriculum is designed to provide enrichment and advancement rather than remedial or make-up work. Mr. Hulburd emphasized the fact that in no sense was this summer session a tutoring school or a cram session. It is expected that boys who will avail themselves of this opportunity will be taking new work, taking advantage of opportunities that are not normally provided in the average secondary school curriculum. The curriculum is broad and the educational standards are high. Outside the classroom there is a full boarding-school program of sports and extra - curricular activities.

Two years ago, Mr. Hulburd explained, basic changes were made in the program as an experiment. Because of the overwhelming success of that program, these changes are all incorporated in this year's session.

The session is reduced from eight to six weeks, no credit will be given for any course, no review or make-up courses will be offered.

The most fundamental change requires that every student attending the session takes a six-hour English composition course in addition to a 12 hour major course in some other field. The summer session faculty is made up almost entirely of men from the regular Andover faculty, and all of the facilities of Phillips Academy will be available to the summer students, including the 85,000 volume Library, the Addison Gallery of American Art and all the other cultural and athletic facilities of the 450-acre campus. In addition to the required English composition courses which will enable these able boys to improve their writing skills, courses will be offered in Art, The Classical and Modern Languages, English literature, History and Geography, Mathmetics, Music, Physics, Biology and Chemistry. These courses are conducted at various levels to include pre-ninth grade and advanced courses for older boys. The ages run from 13 to 18.

Admission to the summer school is open to any secondary school student who presents to the Admission Committee evidence of scholastic ability, seriousness of purpose and good character. Admissions is granted in a highly selective basis by a committee of the Andover faculty and the number of applications makes it highly competitive for the able student. In keeping with its character as a national school, geographic location is taken into consideration.

Last year there were students from 34 states and three foreign countries. As the enrollment is limited, early applications are advisable, Mr. Hulburd said.

Mr. Hulburd emphasized that there would be financial grants made to students who qualified for admissions but who were in financial need. Last year $15,000 was awarded in scholarship aid. The summer session fee including tuition, board and room is $600. Mr. Hulburd emphasized that in keeping with the Andover policy, the summer session is open to any deserving boy who meets the requirements without regard to race, religion or economic circumstance. Applications and information may be had upon request by writing to the director of the summer session, Phillips Academy.

Fate Took Hand In Giving Country Its First President

George Washington might have lived and died on the wrong side of the Atlantic if an English ship had not gone aground in the Potomac River in the 1650's.

Serving as mate on the ship, reports World Book Encyclopedia, was John Washington, great-grandfather of George. By the time the ship was repaired, he had decided to marry and settle in Virginia.

Washington had little money when he arrived in America. But within 20 years he owned more than 5,000 acres of land, including the land that later became Mount Vernon.

The ancestral home of the Washingtons in England was Sulgrave Manor, in Northamptonshire. In 1914 the British government bought the house to celebrate 100 years of peace between Britian and the United States.

DUMP PROBLEMS STUDIED AGAIN

exception to criticism that this had not been done.

McKallagat also pointed out that Mr. Duff had informed him that the heavy equipment article would be placed in the warrant, and the committee supported this step because lighter equipment won't handle the land fill.

During the meeting, it was learned that garbage collection is considered to be the committee's, and the Board of Health's, first objective; second is the land fill operation, and third is trash collection. The latter is not included in the warrant this year, based on the committee's observation that it would be too costly.

Varying points of view were expressed during the hour-long meeting.

Walter C. Wilson Jr., chairman of the Finance Committee, stressed the fact that the FinCom agrees sanitary land fill is desirable - but also thinks it is not mandatory this year. "We're being cast in the role of the villains here", he noted, as several speakers urged the FinCom to reverse its disapproval of purchasing the big 'dozer.

He noted that the FinCom approves the article for garbage collection.

Whether garbage collection will solve the health problems, and sufficiently alleviate the nuisance at the dump, appeared to be the big question. Health Board Chairman Robert Walsh thought sanitary land fill, combined with garbage collection, would do the trick.

Otherwise, it was stated, burning of industrial wastes and other materials that are offensive, can continue. Indeed, Mr. McKallagat commented that a type of land fill operation carried out at the dump this summer and fall was responsible for alleviating nuisances. During that time, industrial wastes were dumped in sections that would not be burned, and some fill was hauled in to cover the debris.

Atty. Vincent A. Stulgis, representing residents in the area, said they agree to the sanitary land fill proposal, but would take action against use of the dump at all, if it is not voted at town meeting.

Richard Moody, a member of the study group, showed movies by one of the major manufacturers of heavy equipment. The film explained how the sanitary land fill method is used.

One resident made the suggestion that garbage and trash be collected jointly, and that the land fill become 100 percent effective - thus eliminating health problems and alleviating nuisances at the dump at one time. The cost of the collection, he indicated, would be about 25 cents per week for the average taxpayer. It would not include the cost of maintaining the land fill method completely, however.

The study group explained that had been looked into, but was thought to be too expensive at this time. It was noted that incineration will be the eventual answer to the problems here, but that the town is not yet ready for this more expensive type of disposal.

The Finance Committee, which had agreed to take another look at the problem during the joint meeting, did not indicate whether its negative opinion had been changed by the presentation.

Morse To Speak At Meeting Here

Friday evening, Feb. 23, at 8 p.m., the Greater Lawrence Young Republican Club will hold its annual new members meeting at the Andover Inn.

Congressman F. Bradford Morse will discuss "Congressional Redistricting" and other pending legislation. All voters between the ages of 21 and 38 interested in becoming members of the Young Republican Club are cordially invited. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

Even if the world owed every man a living, some wouldn't have sense enough to show up on pay day.

EDUCATION CONFERENCE FEATURES PANELS

Superintendent of Schools Edward I. Erickson, teachers and principals. School committeeman John Sullivan has been the liaison man between the School Committee and the conference committee.

While all details of the conference are not completed, an idea of the type of program which will be offered April 4 is suggested at this time.

John Usher Monro, dean of Harvard College, will deliver a short address to open the conference. Mr. Monro is a former Andover resident and attended local schools. Four panels will meet following Dean Monro's talk. Panel discussions will take place during two 30-minute periods, separated by a short recess. It will be possible therefore to attend more than one panel.

Titles for the panels are: Panel I - What is Vocational Education and Who Will Benefit From It? Panel II - What Teaching Aids and Devices Can We Use To Supplement Good Teaching? Panel III - Do Our Schools Need More Time for Education? Should We Lengthen the School Day and the School Year? Panel IV - What Tests Are Given In the Schools and Of What Significance Are They?

Fred S. Tarbox, Leslie Nutting and Lindsay March will serve as participants in Panel, I which will be concerned with vocational needs. Mr. Tarbox is presently serving as chairman of the committee for a regional vocational high school. Mr. Nutting was formerly associated with public education in Massachusetts and recently conducted a survey on vocational needs in this part of the commonwealth. Mr. March is principal of the Andover High School.

Teaching aids and devices, the subject area of Panel II, will have local educators as panel members: Gorden Bensley, William Hart and William Bachman. Actual machine demonstrations will be made by the panelists. Mr. Bensley is the director of the Audio-visual Center at Phillips Academy. Mr. Hart, acting principal of the Andover Junior High School and Mr. Bachman, an instructor at the Junior High School, have had extensive experience in this area of instruction.

The province of Panel III is time and education with the following as panel members: William Young, Lauriston Ward Jr. and Philip Wormwood. Mr. Young is deputy commissioner of education for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. Mr. Ward is curriculum coordinator for the Andover schools. Mr. Wormwood is assistant principal of Andover High School.

Tests and their meaning will occupy the talents of panel IV. This panel is not complete at this time but two members of the Andover school department will be present, Lionel Goulet and William Igoe. Mr. Goulet is principal of the South School and Mr. Igoe is director of guidance at the Andover High School.

Chairman Frishman stated that his committee has had the complete cooperation of the Andover School Committee and the entire school department in making arrangements for the conference. Everyone contacted was very anxious to help in every way to make the conference a success.

Said the conference chairman, "Our Committee has given many hours to prepare for the conference. We believe that everyone with an interest in education will profit by attending."

The first Andover conference on education was held two years ago with nearly 800 people in attendance.

Members of the conference committee are Daniel Frishman, 14 Castle Heights rd.; James B. Sullivan, 82 North st.; Wolf Berthold, 179 Shawsheen rd.; James J. St. Germain, 32 Enmore st.; Mrs. Alex Wilson, 26 Cheever cir.; Stephen Whitney of Hidden Field; Mrs. Richard H. Moody, 12 Suncrest rd.; Frederick Allis, 21 Phillips st.; Mrs. R. M. Want To Study Chinese? Apply Now For June Course

Beginning in the summer of 1962, Phillips Academy will participate in a program of Chinese Language, History, and Culture offered by the Institute of Asian Studies for Preparatory Students.

The Institute, made possible by a grant from the Carnegie Corporation of New York, to Thayer Academy, Braintree, is co-educational and is open to students in the Merrimack Valley area. Applications are restricted to students who will have completed the third or junior year of high school in June of this year.

The Program is divided into two sessions: Session I - from June 18 to Aug. 24 - will be held at Thayer Academy; Session II - from September, 1962, to June, 1963 - will be held at Phillips Academy.

Session I will offer an intensive 10-week course in language and cultural studies; Session II, lasting for approximately 30 weeks, will offer two late afternoon meetings a week of continued language study. Tuition for both sessions is $200. Board and Room for those unable to commute to the Thayer Academy session is $700.

Applicants who believe themselves qualified, but find the cost prohibitive, are encouraged to apply, as the Institute offers a number of scholarships to both day and boarding students.

Students who successfully complete both sessions of the program will be qualified to do advanced work in the field of Chinese studies in their freshman year of college. Applicants must be able to provide evidence of outstanding performance in language study, or of linguistic aptitude.

For further information, applicants should consult their principals, or guidance counselors, or write directly to Director, Institute of Asian Studies, Thayer Academy, Braintree.

Fossil Found In Spy Pond

An "odd-shaped tree trunk" found in Spy Pond has proved to be an exciting fossil discovery some 42,000 years old, Boston's Museum of Science has announced.

Norman D. Harris, director of education at the Museum, said that the six-and-a-half-foot-long specimen was definitely the tusk of a prehistoric mammal, probably a mastodon.

Carbon-dating at the University of Pennsylvania established the antiquity of the piece, putting it in the Pleistocene or Ice Age, when these huge elephant-type creatures roamed the earth.

The fossil will go on display for public viewing at the Museum as early as it can be prepared for exhibition.

Brought in to Science Park two years ago by Arvid Carlson, of Arlington - who spotted the peculiarly shaped object three feet under water while fishing in the local pond - it was quickly identified by Harris as the ivory tusk of a probosidian mammal. But whether it belonged to a present-day elephant or one of his ancient ancestors was not so easy to determine, as the tusks are very similar.

Several experts in Boston and New York examined the specimen, and all said it would be impossible to tell without further clues, such as the discovery of one of the animal's molar teeth. Carbon-dating was recommended.

This highly technical and precise process measures the very tiny amount of radioactive carbon-14 left in a fossil. A Geiger counter records the Beta rays emanating from the sample after it has been processed, and the date is calculated from the count. The older it is, the less radioactivity.

The University of Pennsylvania laboratory gave the age of the sample as 42,072 (plus-or-minus 4305) years.

The fossil looks superficially much like a curved piece of disintegrating tree trunk. On closer inspection, however, one can see the conical layers of ivory which have eroded and split, showing how this enormous tusk-tooth formed in nature.

It could have belonged to either a mastodon or a woolly mammoth. However, the mastodon was more common to this part of the country and consequently a more likely owner.

Mastodons were about nine-and-a-half feet high at the shoulders, approximately the size of our circus elephant, with barrel-like bodies and long, sloping foreheads ending in a trunk. The male's tusks were often 10 feet long, and as much as 10 inches in diameter. Common to North America during the Ice Age, they lived in evergreen forests at the edges of the ice sheet, and fed on the coarse twigs of the trees.

One of the most significant differences between the mastodon and the larger woolly mammoth is in their molar teeth. The mastodon's look somewhat like a giant human tooth, with a low crown of blunt-tipped crests and several long roots.

Come spring, a Museum of Science expedition will head for Spy Pond, looking particularly for the skull of a probosidian mammal. If they find one and it should have a mastodon molar there will be little doubt but that the Museum tusk came from the same creature of the prehistoric past.

Tammany Will Speak To Guild

Monday evening, Feb. 26, William Tammany of the Andover Police Department will speak to the Friendly Guild of Christ Church on new methods of police training as compared to those of the past.

In conjunction with this subject, Mr. Tammany will show a film entitled "State Police Training".

The meeting will begin at 7:45 p.m. in the Parish House. Chairman for the evening is Mrs. Leo Shiebler. Assisting her are Mrs. J. E. Collins, Mrs. George Collins, and Mrs. Frank Robinson.

VISIT HOSPITAL

Last Thursday afternoon, eight members of the Towanka Camp Fire Girls, accompanied by their leader, Mrs. George Torres and assistant leaders, Mrs. William Lancaster and Mrs. Tennyson Hood, visited the children's ward at the Bon Secours Hospital and gave out play bags, containing coloring books, crayons, etc. to the children.

Girl Scouts

Troop 46

The Brownies of Troop 46 presented a play entitled "Elsie in Bookland" at their last meeting. The girls have spent considerable time preparing the play, and their own costumes and props. They made and sent invitations to their parents and teachers for the play, held in Central Auditorium. Following the play, the material for the Cookie Sale was distributed and the rules explained. The girls will now start work on their Fly-up requirements.

Troop 79

The Girl Scouts of Troop 79 received their Cookie Sale material and Mrs. MacReynolds explained the instructions. The final touches were added to the party material for the Mentally Retarded Children at Burke Hospital. The Bean bags were gift wrapped and the nut cups were filled. The things were delivered to the hospital in time for a Valentine's party, by Mrs. Brimblecom and Mrs. MacMackin.

Troop 63

The Brownies of Troop 63 celebrated their first year birthday at their last meeting. The entire meeting was turned over to the girls. Linda Pasho acted as leader and Karen McKeon acted as the assistant leader. A puppet show was put on by Anne Martellini, Karen McKeon, Susan Whitworth, Jennifer Zollner and Judy Holland. These girls made their own puppets and the costumes for them. The games and songs were in charge of Wanda Batchelder, Betsy Gaw, Marylou Lussier, Linda Pasho and Jacqueline O'Brien. For refreshments, Anne Marie Bailey baked and decorated a cake. Also helping with refreshments were Joan Liversidge, Pamela Normandy, Kaitlin Owen and Beverly Roberts. Another group of girls, Cynthia Johnson, Caroline Davis and Barbara Connolly, each answered, in their own way, the question "What it means to be a Brownie?" The Troop also took charge of their flag ceremony and the cleaning up.

Troop 68

The Brownies of Troop 68 had as their guest this week Mrs. Basil Despotes from the International Institute. She told the girls about her native land of Greece, and taught the girls a Greek folk dance. The girls then showed their scrap books on the Girl Scout laws. They elected new Patrol Leaders. Patrol One elected Cindy May for the leader, and Kathy Downs, assistant leader. Patrol Two elected Kathy Gaw, leader, and Susan Caldwell, assistant leader. Mrs. Joan Beaulieu and Mrs. Rita White assisted with the meeting. At a recent meeting, the girls enjoyed seeing films on the Chalet in Switzerland and the Cabana in Mexico.

Swimming Badges

Many of the girl scouts are working on their swimming badge. The girls are swimming at the Phillips Academy pool in cooperation with the Andover Youth Center and Mr. Dunn Troops 118, 18, 112, 124, 79, 95, 32, and 82 are represented; with a total of about 40 girls.

CLASS OFFICERS at Pike School serve for one semester, then others are elected. In this photo at a recent meeting, are Susan Lebach, secretary, first term; John McArdle, vice president, first term; Bill Meyers, vice president, second term; Brian Landry, president, first term; Paul Perrocchi, president, second term; Skip Freeman, treasurer, second term; and Bina Hayes, treasurer, first term. Absent was Judy Calderwood, secretary, second term. Standing is William Harding, school principal. (Staff Photo)

Pike School Elected Officers

Students of the Pike School have recently completed their elections for officers of the undergraduate's student government. Officers are elected to serve for a half-year term each.

The officers for the first semester were president, Brian Landry; vice president, John McArdle; secretary, Susan Lebach; treasurer, Bina Hayes. Officers for the remainder of the present school year are respectively, Paul Perrochi, Billy Meyers, Judy Calderwood and Gordon Freeman.

The titles carry with them many and varied duties. The officers are responsible for the appointment and administration of committee work such as the maintenance of the school's grounds, the preparation of the multi-purpose room for various functions, cafeteria help with set-up and disposal problems, traffic and parking direction; and in general the officers help the school administration by bringing to the weekly meetings suggestions for improving student and faculty relations, and they serve as executive advisors to each of the committees.

In addition to the officers, the school government consists of a representative body composed of 14 members, two boys and girls representing each home room from grades five through eight.

Mrs. Richard Hornidge and Mrs. Charles Burton serve as faculty advisors to the school government. Their purpose is to teach boys and girls the meaning of service in a democratic form of government. Every boy and girl in the three upper grades will have performed tasks vital to the smooth operation of the school by the end of each year, and the tasks are performed as a consequence of choices made and duties imposed by the students' own representative body.

Get-Together Is Set For March 4

St. Robert Bellarmine, a new Andover parish, will hold a get-together dinner and social for all members and guests in the parish hall on Haggett's Pond rd. in West Andover. The date set is for the evening of Sunday, March 4.

A committee, headed by Vincent Treanor, has been organized to plan the function and held its final meeting at the parish rectory Feb. 19.

The Rev. Francis L. Sullivan, pastor, is hopeful of having all of the more than 300 families in attendance. In order that the event will take on the aspects of a family reunion, tickets for children will be made available at half price and parents will be encouraged to bring the entire family for the night of enjoyment.

This will be the first general social at the new parish and it is aimed at being an occasion at which all of the parishioners will get to meet one another and their pastor. It will also be an occasion at which the pastor will have an opportunity to outline the long range projects of the parish and the activities which are planned for the coming year.

United Fund Dinner Monday

The eighth Annual United Fund dinner will be held Monday, Feb. 26, at 6:30 p.m. at the Jewish Community Center, 580 Haverhill st., Lawrence.

The purpose of the dinner is to honor those employee groups that have won the Good Citizenship Plaque Award and to pay acknowledgment to the outgoing campaign chairman, B. Allen Rowland, who led a campaign organization of better than 2,000 volunteers to a campaign achievement of $557,019, representing an 8 percent increase over the previous year's result.

There are no speeches at this community dinner and the program is geared to entertainment.

The public is invited.

Route 495 Bids Sought

Route 495 construction will presumably get underway this spring.

The state Department of Public Works has called for bids on two sections of the major federal route - from Greenwood rd. to Corbett st., and from Corbett st. to Route 114.

The first section is estimated to cost about 1 1/2 million dollars; the latter, close to six million.

Bids are returnable in mid-March, and it is believed that another month will be allowed before work gets underway.
